A message from the Minister for Tourism, Culture, Arts, Gaeltacht, Sport, and Media

Catherine Martin T.D.

It is with pleasure that I extend a 'Céad Míle Fáilte' or 'One Hundred Thousand Welcomes' to you from Ireland. This excellent 'Fáilte Ireland Golf Guide 2023' is designed to provide you with practical information which will help encourage you to plan an unforgettable golfing holiday in Ireland and enjoy our landscape, our history, our cuisine, and our people—but most importantly, our golf.

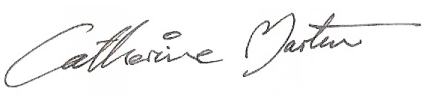

Of course, what really sets Ireland apart from other golf destinations, are the people. We know the friendly welcome combined with our tradition of warm hospitality, makes us want to share our courses and our companionship with visitors at every opportunity and will entice any golfer to return or visit for the first time.

Here in Ireland, we are world-renowned for our high-quality golf product. Pre-coronavirus, Ireland welcomed over 200,000 golf tourists each year and generated more than €300 million in revenue for the Irish economy and 1.6 million bed nights every year, making it extremely valuable to the economy.

From championship links and parkland courses to numerous hidden gems, there is a course to suit golfers at every level, spread throughout Ireland. In fact, we boast more than 400 courses within our scenic landscape across the Wild Atlantic Way, Ireland's Ancient East, Ireland's Hidden Heartlands, Northern Ireland and in and around our capital city, Dublin.

It is said that this will be the decade of golf in Ireland, with the return of The Open Championship to Royal Portrush in 2025 and the Centenary Ryder Cup in Adare Manor, Limerick in 2027. The Horizon Irish Open will now take place from 7-10 September 2023, at The K Club in Co. Kildare, situated in Ireland's Ancient East, and will provide a stunning backdrop to the event. We also look forward to the Irish Challenge, Irish Legends, and the continued success of the Women's Irish Open.

I sincerely hope that this 'Fáilte Ireland Golf Guide 2023' will help you to plan an unforgettable golfing holiday in Ireland.

Why IRELAND FOR GOLF?

Ireland, an island on the edge of Europe, long recognised for the beauty of its landscapes and seascapes, now stands as one of the world's greatest and most distinguished golfing destinations.

Hook Lighthouse, Co Wexford

Spread throughout every corner of the Island, there are more than 400 courses waiting to be explored. In fact, Ireland is home to over a third of the world's true links style courses, and alongside many world class championship parkland courses, the Island is proud host of Ryder Cups, Solheim Cups, Irish Opens and Open Championships.

The Irish people's passion for golf and the true wealth of world class golfing options available on the Island, combined with their renowned tradition of hospitality and famous warm welcome, makes Ireland stand out among other destinations.

In 2020, Ireland won two categories in the World Golf Awards. Adare Manor, which has been named as the Host Venue for the 2027 Ryder Cup, received the award for "World's Best Golf Clubhouse 2020", while Ireland itself was named "Europe's Best Golf Destination 2020".

Using This Guide

Looking to 2023, this Official Fáilte Ireland Golf Guide is your perfect companion to plotting and planning your next golf trip to Ireland.

The Guide is broken down into 5 main sections, based on the five main regions in Ireland;

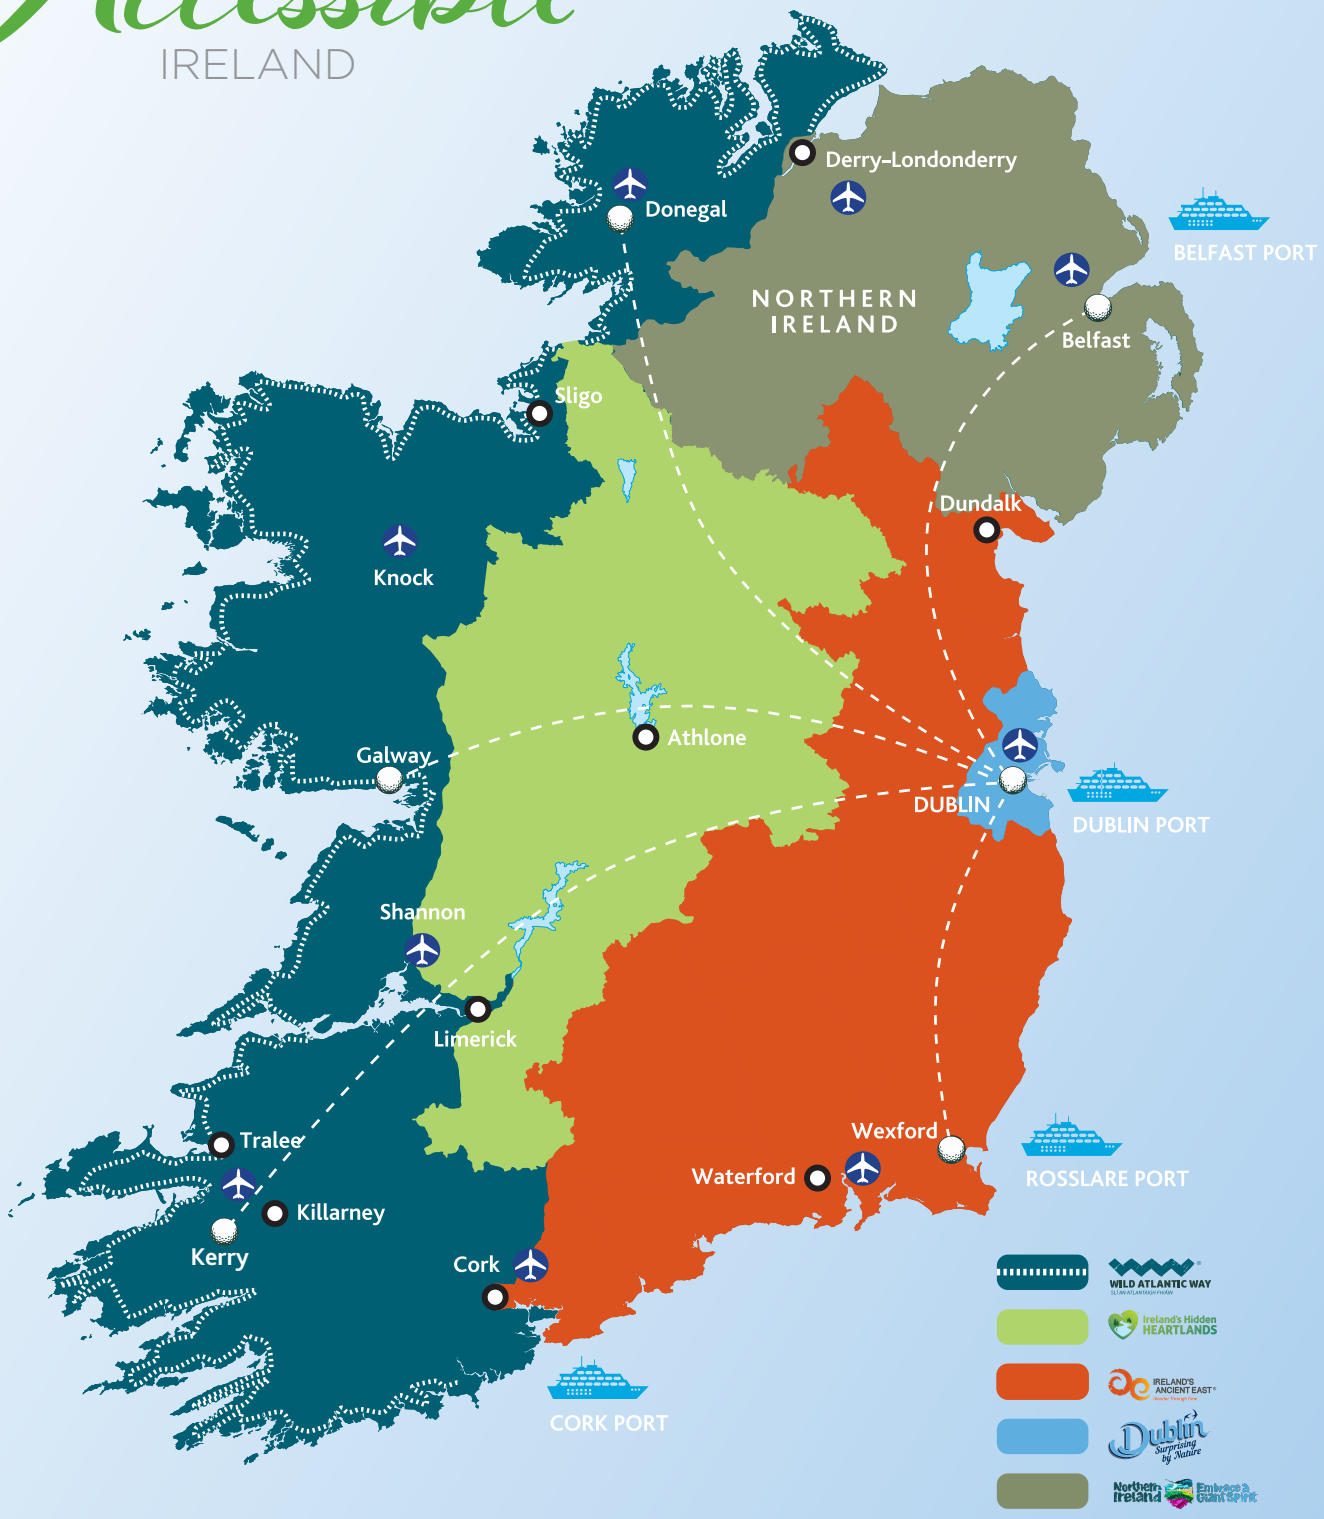

Dublin
Ireland's Ancient East
Ireland's Hidden Heartlands
The Wild Atlantic Way
Northern Ireland

Each section gives an introduction to the region and presents a directory and map of all golf courses available to visitors in the area. Each section also details a select number of recommended activities, attractions and experiences, should you wish to truly discover and get 'under the skin' of each region, before or after your round!

IRELAND'S BREWING INDUSTRY

If there is one thing the Irish do well, it is brewing a good pint. Brewing in Ireland has a long history dating back to the monks of the 12th & 13th century, and while Guinness and Beamish remain big names within the brewing industry, there is a large increase in the number of independent craft breweries in Ireland. What's more, now lots of them are open to welcoming visitors.

Here's just a taste of those open to visitors;

IRISH WHISKEY AND DISTILLERIES

Irish Whiskey, from the Gaelic term 'uisce beatha' (ishka baa-ha) meaning 'water of life', is one of Europe's earliest distilled beverages. The first record of Irish whiskey dates back to 1405, almost 100 years before it was recorded in Scottish history.

Irish Whiskey was the most widely consumed spirit globally in the latter part of the 19th century, with over 88 licensed distilleries in Ireland at that time. Following a period of decline during the 20th century, Irish whiskey is now experiencing an exciting rebirth. With several new visitor distilleries and more in final stages of development, now is the time to experience the world's fastest growing premium spirit.

Dublin

A vibrant capital city bursting with a variety of surprising experiences, where city living thrives amidst the backdrop of rugged mountains, picturesque coastal villages and some of Ireland's most historic golf courses.

Visitdublin.com; Search for Visit Dublin on

Many know Dublin for its great literary and music heritage, along with its colourful political history spanning over 1000 years, but modern Dublin is a contemporary international hub booming and brimming with energy and excitement.

Dublin also boasts a coastline of picturesque villages, beaches and harbours that span some 16 miles, all accessible within 10-20 minutes of the city centre for visitors to explore and meet the locals.

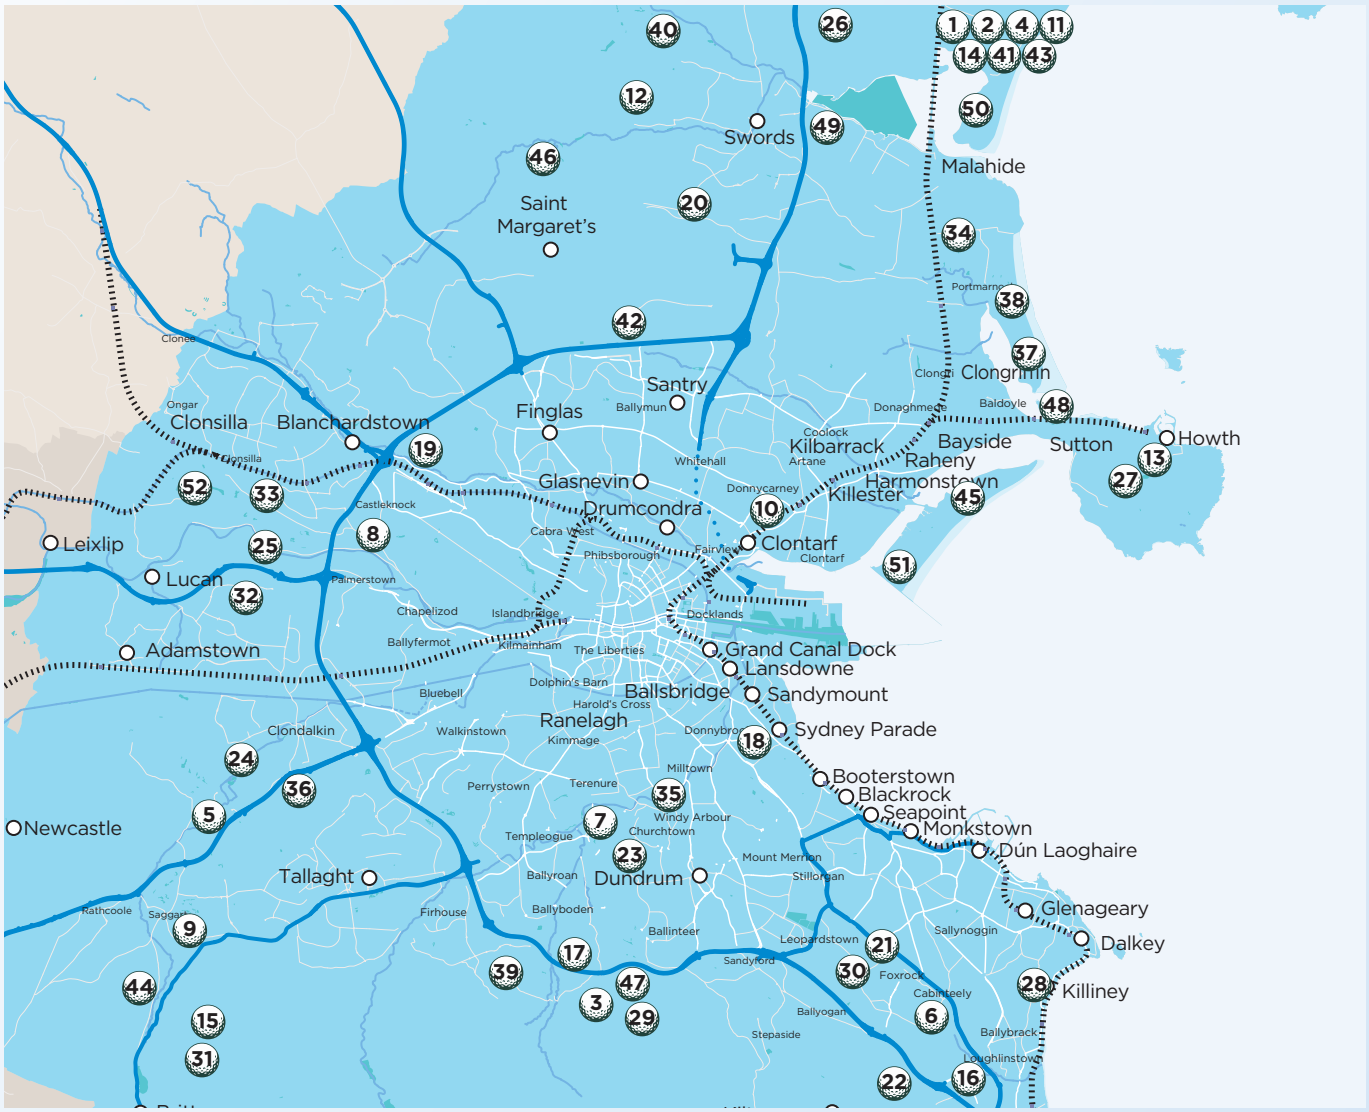

Dublin is home to some of Ireland's most historic golf courses, such as Royal Dublin Golf Club and Portmarnock Golf Club, both of which have welcomed golfing legends, from Old Tom Morris to Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Seve Ballesteros.

In fact, the Dublin region has an array of over 50 golf courses, with world class links, stunning parkland and heathland options available to fit every budget and skill level. Well then, what are you waiting for?

DUBLIN Beyond THE GOLF

DRINK A DROP OF DUBLIN

You can't visit Dublin without sampling Guinness. The Guinness Storehouse, located beside the famous brewery at St James' Gate, wraps several floors of exhibitions and advertising displays around a pint shaped atrium. Or enjoy a drop of whiskey at one of our famous distilleries Jameson, Teelings, Dublin Liberties or Pearse Lyons where you can learn about the distilling process before taking a tutored sup of the nectar itself. Sláinte!

HOP ON A DUBLIN TOUR

Exploring Dublin is a beautiful thing; that's why the Hop-on/Hop-off tours offered by Dublin Bus, City Sightseeing and Big Bus are such a good idea! Stopping at multiple attractions around the city, visitors are free to hop on and off at their leisure. You can also visit Dublin's coasts and castles on a number of the tours.

MATCH FEVER

When it comes to hurling and Gaelic football, two field sports unique to Ireland, all roads lead to Croke Park. Championship finals at the spectacular 82,300-seater stadium are electrifying and tickets tend to be scarce, but you can relive the glory with the captivating Croke Park Experience in the Gaelic Athletic Association (GAA) Museum. Test your sporting prowess while you're there and finish up with a walk along the 17-storey-high Skyline. Whatever you do, don't look down! If rugby or soccer is more your pitch, the spanking new Aviva Stadium with its iconic curvilinear roof won't disappoint. A behind-the-scenes-tour will serve up some dazzling views and a taste of the match experience.

POP INTO A PUB

"In Dublin, you're never more than 20 paces from a pint," remarked JP Dunleavy, author of "The Gingerman". Today you are, typically, also within strolling distance of a range of award-winning gastropubs which provide excellent food and the odd session of trad Irish music. On the traditional front, several pubs around the city, like The Brazen Head, Oliver St John Gogartys, O' Donoghue's, O'Shea's Merchant Pub and The Cobblestone, put on traditional Irish music sessions and many of them are free. The Merry Ploughboy Pub, Johnnie Foxes in the Dublin Mountains and the Irish House Party all offer traditional food and shows with live music, song and dance. Craft beer officienados will be delighted with the range of local craft beers available widely across Dublin. Why not take a microbrewery tour before you join the locals and enjoy the ambience of Urban Brewing or The Camden's (Five Lamps Brewery).

CITY BY THE SEA

A short ride on the DART light rail is all it takes to access a selection of relaxed seaside villages and beaches. Within half an hour of leaving the city, you can be in a boat on your way to Dalkey Island, eating Michelin-starred food in Malahide, walking the Victorian pier at Dun Laoghaire, or devouring snap-fresh seafood in Howth or Skerries. Dublin Coastal Trail will guide you along our UNESCO Biosphere Bay– For an exhiliarating way to find out and experience it check out Dublin Under Sail under the red cloth sails of the 'Brian Boru' - get to grips with ropes, sails and fellow crew members as you harness the wind to power the traditional sailing vessel of the 'Brian Boru'.

TEE OFF BY GETTING UNDER THE SKIN OF DUBLIN'S UNIQUE IRISH SOCIAL HISTORY

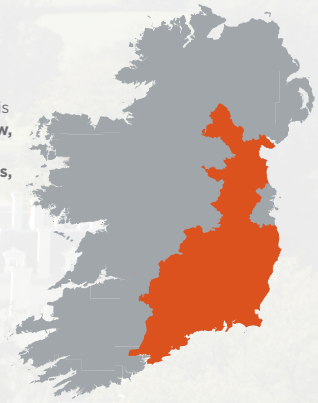

Follow in the footsteps of U2, Cranberries, Rolling Stones, Ed Sheeran and more - go behind the famous studio doors of Windmill Lane Recording Studios to understand the conception and production of some of the most popular sounds and music of the past 40 years. Visit 14 Henrietta Street to find out the personal stories of those who called it their home. This intimate guided tour brings you on a journey from the house's grand Georgian beginnings to the tenement dwellings of its later years.

Discover the Irish diaspora and their emigration to other countries at Epic The Irish Emigration Musem. Uncover the story of our emigrants and how they shaped the world, you'll realise that emigration is not about what people leave behind, but what they bring with them.

Ireland's Ancient East

An immersive golfing paradise with some of Ireland's most fertile green landscapes and legendary coastline, steeped in 5000 years of history and brought to life by the best storytellers in the world.

Counties in this Region: Carlow, Cork, Kildare, Kilkenny, Laois, Louth, Meath, Monaghan, Tipperary, Waterford, Wexford, Wicklow.

The Horizon Irish Open will return to Ireland's Ancient East once again this year. Former Ryder Cup venue, The K Club will host not only this year's tournament on the 7-10 September, but will see it return in 2025 and 2027 as well.

irelandsancienteast.com; Search for Ireland's Ancient East on

An area famous for its lush green landscapes, manicured gardens and built heritage with a rich tapestry of living history spanning 5,000 years, Ireland's Ancient East is a spectacular golfing region like no other.

Some of Ireland's most fertile land lends itself to a selection of Ireland's best parkland courses, such as Carton House, 2006 Ryder Cup Venue The K Club, and Mount Juliet Estate, Host of the Horizon Irish Open 2021 and 2022.

Ireland's Ancient East is home not only to world class parkland courses, but also some of the country's best links challenges. County Louth Golf Club, Baltray where Shane Lowry was famously crowned 2009 Irish Open Champion as an Amateur, and The European Club in Brittas Bay, Co Wicklow stand as just two examples of the amazing links options waiting to be discovered along the region's storied coast.

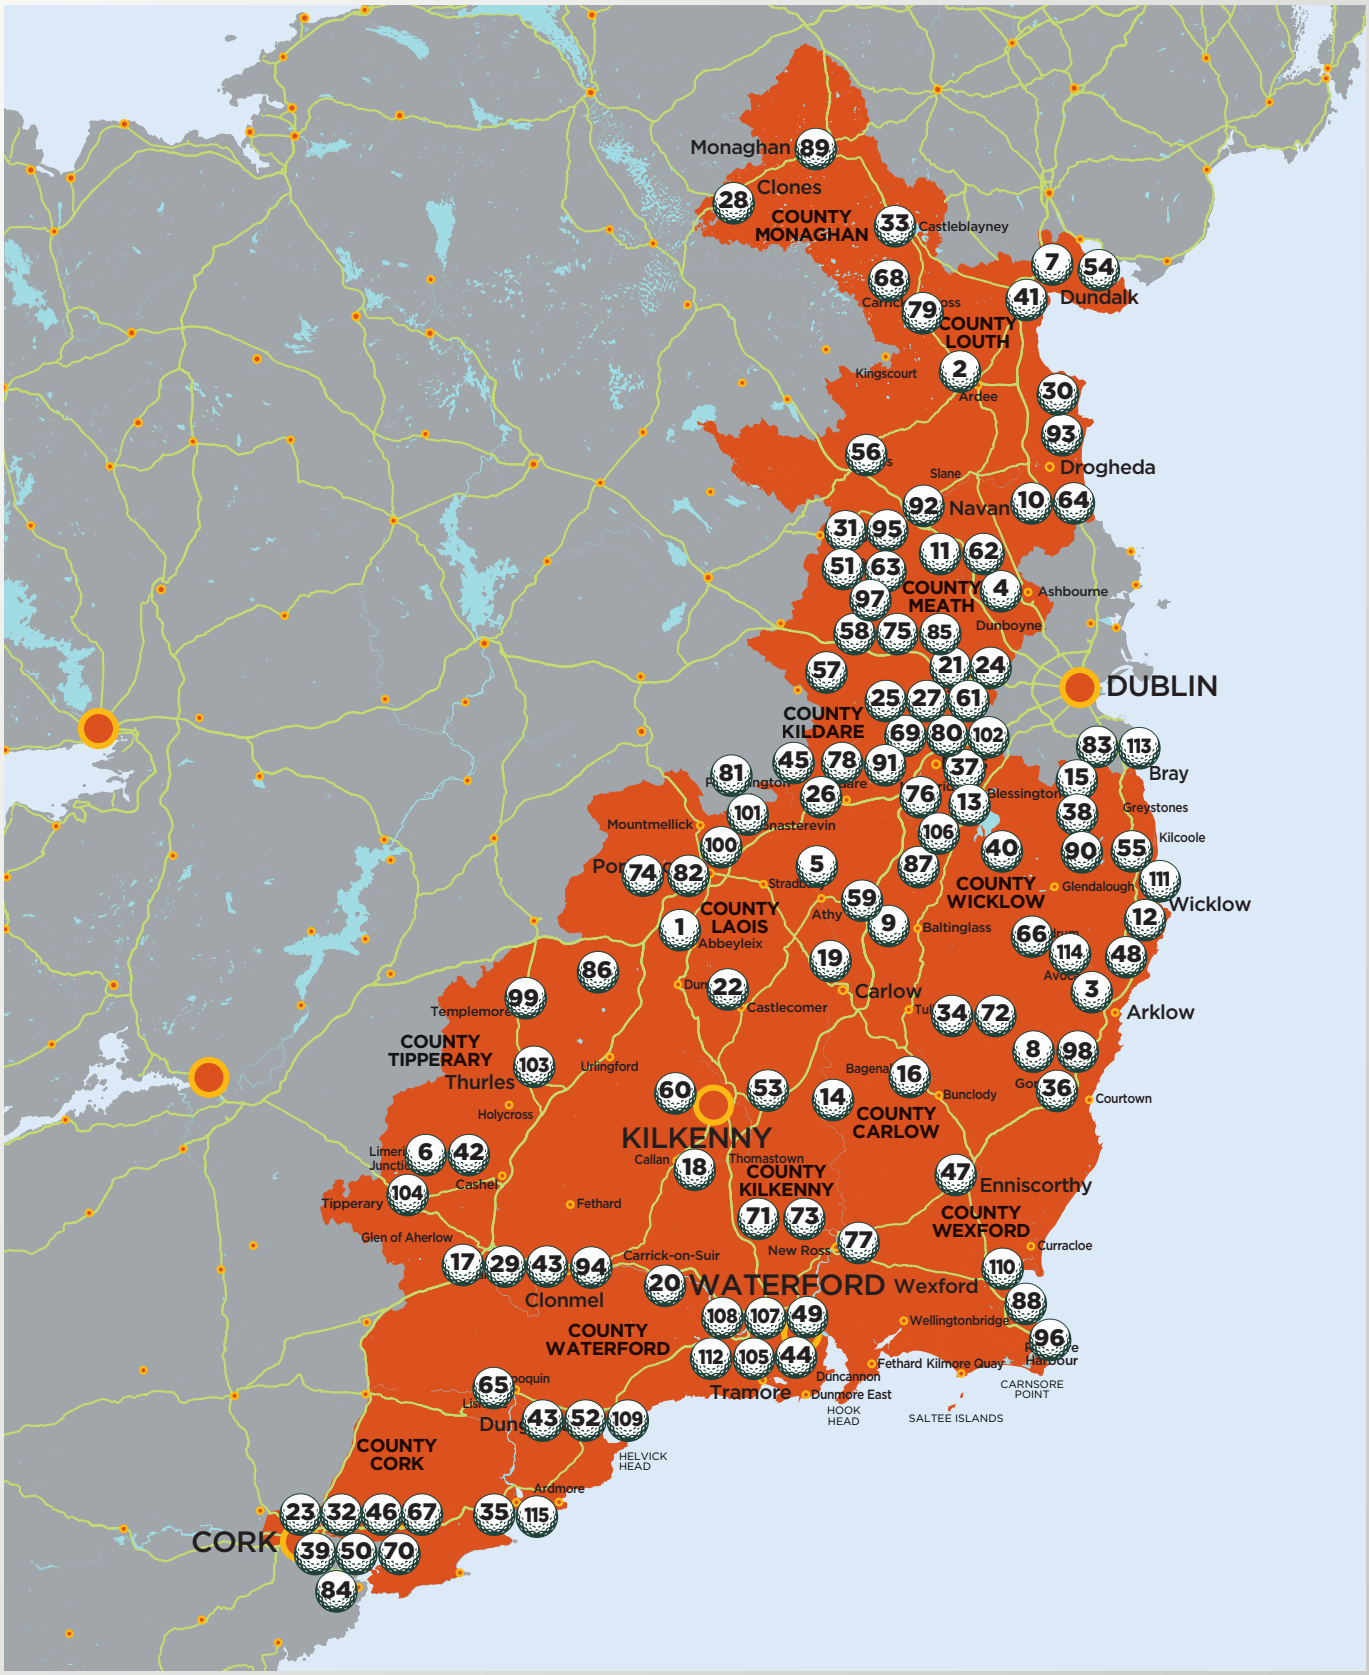

With over 115 courses to choose from, Ireland's Ancient East offers all golfers fantastic variety, in terms affordability, skill level and terrain.

ADARE MANOR

LIMERICK, IRELAND

Designed for the grandest of stages, each hole of the golf course at Adare Manor features its own unique character, with many candidates for the most dramatic. As it narrates its own story, the closing stretch will both bear witness to some of the most dramatic moments in the history of the Ryder Cup, all in the shadow of the Manor House.

From the very beginning, The Golf Course at Adare Manor was destined to welcome crowds and deliver an atmosphere beyond anything Ireland has seen before. The extended space surrounding each green provides for unspoiled vantage points across the property, whilst the course infrastructure ensures an unrivalled fan and participant experience.

The Golf Course at Adare Manor looks ahead in excitement as it prepares to showcase Ireland on the world stage and can assure golf fans that the occasion will be worthy of the 100th year of golf's best-loved event.

SHED DISTILLERY

The highly anticipated Shed Distillery Visitor Experience will open its doors in April 2021. The now globally recognised, Drumshanbo Gunpowder Irish Gin – slow distilled by hand with oriental botanicals and the ever-intriguing gunpowder tea, was the first brainchild of PJ Rigney to come to fruition. It was quickly joined by Sausage Tree Pure Irish Vodka, and now - awaited with bated breath, comes Drumshanbo Single Pot Still Irish Whiskey, the first whiskey to be distilled in Connacht in over 105 years. The visitor experience will be open year-round.
